To Representatives from the U.S. Department of State:

Re: List of U.S. Suppliers to Canadian Oil Sands Projects

As you may know, the Canadian economy is inextricably linked to the United States' economy. Representatives of the Canadian and American governments have asserted the importance and mutual benefits of the trading relationship for both countries.

On behalf of the Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers (CAPP), who represent over 90 per cent of Canadian oil and natural gas producers, I have attached information that exemplifies the thriving and prosperous economic relationship between U.S. and Canadian businesses in the oil and gas sector.

The information was compiled as part of a CAPP research project to gain insight into how Canadian oil sands development creates jobs in the U.S. and aids in economic recovery. CAPP requested from a number of member companies a list of U.S. suppliers and business partners for oil sands projects. The initial results identify 906 U.S. based suppliers for Canadian oil sands and pipeline projects from 2008-2010.

This is an astounding number of U.S. supplier names and is by no means an exhaustive list. As CAPP receives more information from its member companies, the list will be updated. This aggregation of real data and real examples is critical to the Canadian argument that increases in Canadian economic activity also increases demand for U.S. goods and services that directly and indirectly support the Canadian industries. The results are substantial gains in American jobs, tax revenue and GDP.

This information demonstrates the real companies and real people whose jobs and businesses are benefited by the development of Canada's oil sands and its strong and growing relationship with the U.S.

While the long list is attached, here is a summary of the number of U.S. suppliers by state:

List of U.S. Suppliers to Canadian Oil Sands Companies

In order to gain insight into how Canadian oil sands development increases U.S. economic activity, CAPP requested from oil sands and pipeline companies a list of U.S. suppliers and business partners for major oil sands projects. The following list is an aggregation of U.S. suppliers for Canadian oil sands and pipeline companies from 2008-2010. It is organized alphabetically by state, city, and supplier name. As CAPP receives more information from its member companies, the list will be updated. Please note this document is not meant to be an exhaustive survey of U.S. suppliers. Rather, it serves as a tool to highlight real examples of the commerce and trade relationships between Canadian oil sands producers and U.S. companies.
